SHAFT IN MEMORY OF NORTHERN DEAD

Monument Unveiled by Pennsylvanians at Cemetery in Salisbury.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Salisbury, N. C., November 16.—With ceremonies calculated to cement the friendly relations between the North and the South a fitting monument was unveiled in the Federal Cemetery in Salisbury this afternoon in honor of the Pennsylvania soldiers who lie buried here. Pursuant to a special act of the Legislature the monument was the gift of the State of Pennsylvania, and was erected at a cost of $15,000, the contractor being Carroll J. Clark, of Lancaster, Pa. The monument is a large shaft of granite, more than 25 feet high, and is supported by a base of the same material. The shaft is surmounted by a statue of a soldier in full armor, holding a sword aloft in his right hand. The statue is the work of the sculptor, John J. Boyle, of Philadelphia. The monument is the first of its kind in the South, and is a fitting memorial to the brave soldiers who gave their lives for the Union.

The monument, which rests upon a large base of granite, supported by a dome, upon which is a bronze figure in a seated position, is a fitting memorial to the brave soldiers who gave their lives for the Union. The monument is the first of its kind in the South, and is a fitting memorial to the brave soldiers who gave their lives for the Union.

The monument was formally presented to Governor Stuart, of Pennsylvania, by Captain Louis R. Fortescue, being unveiled by Miss Helen H. Walker, of Pittsburgh. It was accepted in a gracious manner, and in turn presented by Governor Stuart to the United States Government, being accepted by General A. L. Mills. The principal address of the occasion was delivered by General Harry D. White, of Indiana, who, in a stirring address, reminded the audience of the sacrifices made by the soldiers of the North and the South, and of the need for a fitting memorial to their valor.

The commission appointed by the State to erect the monument consists of Colonel James D. Walker, of Pittsburgh; General Harry White, of Indiana; Major Louis D. Fortescue, of Philadelphia; and also Colonel Ezra Rippey, of Scranton, and Captain H. H. Bricker, of Carlisle, who died recently. Among the prominent visitors from the Keystone State were General Robert S. Stuart, of the living members of the commission, Lieutenant Governor Robert S. Murphy, General Thomas J. Stewart, General Robert H. Heath, Senator David Wilbur, of Pennsylvania; J. D. O'Neill, of Camp Hill; John A. Fairman, of Harrisburg; and Robert J. Cunningham, of Pittsburgh, and nearly 1,000 other citizens, including several hundred survivors of the Civil War.

The distinguished party was tendered a reception by Senator Lee S. Overman in Salisbury last night, after which the visitors left on a special train for Pennsylvania.

PRICE REDUCTION IS MANIPULATION

"Interests" Release Hold on Throats Only to Take Fresh Grip.

Washington, D. C., November 16.—The so-called reduction in the price of meats is a deliberate manipulation of the market, according to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture, in a statement made here today. "The interests which manipulated the price upward," said Dr. Wiley, "temporarily have released their hold on our throats for the purpose of getting a fresh grip. The so-called reduction in prices is a deception, and the manipulation was deliberate just as the increase in prices was unjust, unreasonable and uncalled for by conditions prevailing throughout the country. The prices were fictitious at the top notch because they were forced there arbitrarily by interests."

Development will show that the interests are after some one. It may be some independent movement they hope to drive from cover. Secretary Wilson said today the announced reduction in prices was abnormal. He said it was due to the fact that the drought in the cattle raising country had increased the cost of hay. The farmer with cattle on his hands must pay $15 a ton for his hay, and he can do this he was sending his cattle and sheep to market. This accounted for the sudden tumble in prices.

"This tumble is not all normal and will not all be permanent," declared Secretary Wilson, "but a plentiful crop and plenty of grain will enable the farmer to feed freely and we should get a lower level of prices. Lower prices are certain to come, provided that somewhere between the farmer and the consumer there is no combination nor agreement to keep prices up."

Large numbers of farmers are expected to visit this city on Thursday, and everything will be done by the citizens to give them a cordial and hospitable welcome. "Corn Judging Day" was first instituted in this city last year by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of encouraging the production of better crops throughout this section, and these agricultural fairs are now to be held annually in this city.

News reached this city yesterday that Elijah Harrison, of Chocoma town, was held up on the county road near Oriental a few days ago and assaulted and robbed by an unknown white man and negro. Mr. Harrison was walking about three miles from Oriental when he was accosted by the two men and asked for five dollars in change for a bill. Pulling a roll of bills out of his pocket, he started to make the desired change, when one of the men pulled a revolver and shot him in the head, the shot only stunning him at the time. He was then robbed, and the men made good their escape. Mr. Harrison was later found and taken to Oriental for medical treatment.

TO VOTE ON BONDS FOR GOOD ROADS

Question of $700,000 Issue to Be Decided in Wise County.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Big Stone Gap, Va., November 16.—An election will be held in Wise county on Tuesday on a proposed bond issue of $700,000 to build macadam roads. Owing to the strenuous Congressional campaign there has been very little active interest taken in the matter until now. This past week, however, advocates of the issue are flooding the county with oratory and illustrated lectures. John W. Chalkley, president and moving spirit of the Wise County Good Roads Association, secured Captain P. St. Julien Wilson, State Highway Commissioner, and L. E. Boykins, of the Government Good Roads Bureau at Washington, and they, assisted by R. P. Bruce, John W. Chalkley, R. Tate Irvine, General R. A. Ayers, O. M. Vickers, W. B. Fulton, R. R. Parker, A. P. Crockett, J. L. Addington, J. N. Hillman, J. D. Clay, Jr., J. B. Kiser, C. Q. Counts, W. W. G. Dotson and other local speakers will address the voters in every precinct in the county.

Only a little opposition here and there in the county has manifested itself, and it seems that the issue will carry almost unanimously. However, it is the desire of the association to poll as large a vote as possible, and the association is working to this end, by sending circulars to every voter. The call for the election authorizes the building of approximately 110 miles of road, which will traverse every part of the county, and will be not a man in the county that will not be directly benefited. It includes branch roads up to all of the coal opencut, thereby giving the farmers good markets over the roads. It also authorizes the extending of the main roads through the corporate limits of the towns, and not stopping at the corporate limits on one side and commencing again on the other. This is a wise and a provision, as the towns will have to pay their part of the taxes to take care of the interest on the bonds and sinking fund to redeem same, and if it were left to the towns to build inside their own corporate limits, some of them would not be able to do so for a long time. It would leave a lot of unsightly gaps. An illustration of this is the gap road from Cleveland to Lebanon. This road stops at the corporate limits of Lebanon, and a red clay dirt street extends through the town.

This is the largest good roads bond issue ever proposed in the State, but Wise is a very rich county and has ample assessable value and no bonds outstanding at present. The assessable value would now allow a maximum bond issue by the county of $1,000,000, and under the new assessment being taken it is increased to $1,200,000, leaving a margin of $500,000.

Bradstreet's Report.

Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:

Taken in general, trade conditions are normal for this season, however, a lack of buoyancy is noted in some lines. Dealers in toys and holiday goods report satisfactory orders. Shoes, rubber goods and kindred lines continue active. Dry goods are rather quiet. Produce and fruits are in good demand; the same may be said of fancy groceries. Drugs and chemicals continue active. Hardware and lumber is quiet and building shows less activity. Retail trade is fair and collections show improvement over a comparative period of last month.
